

Table of contents

Acknowledgements 7

Note on contributors 9

Editor’s introduction 11

Ursula van Beek

PART ONE: Theory and history

Cultural values and democracy: A historical perspective 31

Ursula van Beek

Civic culture, citizenship and the quality of democracy 73

Edmund Wnuk-Lipinski

The quality of young democracies from a constitutional perspective 95

Bernard Lategan

PART TWO: Theory and empirical findings

Pro-democratic orientations, political shortcuts and policy issues:
Comparative analyses of elite-mass congruence in old and new democracies 117

Thorleif Pettersson

Political support and democratic performance in old and new democracies 147

Simon Moritz

The salience of the socio-economic cleavage in old and new democracies	173
Ursula Hoffmann-Lange
The quality of governance and socio-economic performance	201
Dirk Berg-Schlosser
Elite and mass values: Religion as an intervening factor	221
Yilmaz Esmer
Civic tolerance and religiosity: Elites and publics compared	241
Hennie Kotzé and Pierre du Toit
Political communication and the quality of democracy	263
Sang-Jin Han
Conclusions	297
Pierre du Toit
Appendix A: Comparative characteristics	305
Appendix B: Parliamentary systems	307
Appendix C: Technical overview of elite surveys	309
Appendix D: Elite survey questionnaire	311
Index	329