

Table of contents

Acknowledgements	9
------------------------	---

Pablo Riberi / Konrad Lachmayer

Foreword	11
----------------	----

I. Theoretical Framework

Otto Pfersmann

Five theses about the foundations of constitutional law	15
---	----

Pablo Riberi

An uncertain dilemma: philosophical or political foundations for the constitution?	33
---	----

II. Constitutional Design and the Constitution

Sanford Levinson

Principles and compromises in the process of constitutional designs.....	79
---	----

Roberto Gargarella

Latin American constitutionalism and the “engine room” of the constitution.....	97
--	----

III. Constitutional Makings in Political Representation

Ricardo Chueca

Political representation: a collective conjecture	115
---	-----

Tania Busch Venthur

- The right to judicial protection as an “oblique” political right?
Judicialization, political participation and representation..... 127

IV. Constitutional Rights and the Judiciary

Cesare Pinelli

- Political branches v. judicial activism 143

Lucas S. Grosman

- Judicial review of social policy 157

M. E. Libonati

- State courts and the “rule of law” 179

V. Constitutional Limits to Emergencies

Carlos Rosenkrantz

- Constitutional emergencies in Argentina:
the romans (not the judges) have the solution 187

Ricardo Ramírez Calvo

- Positivism, totalitarianism and constitutionalism 225

VI. The International Dimension of Contemporary Constitutionalism

John Maynor

- Transnational republicanism: a challenge too far? 265

Konrad Lachmayer

- The possibility of international constitutional law:
A pluralistic approach towards constitutional law
and constitutional comparison 283

Michele Carducci / Alessandro Isoni

Is a “trans-national” constitutional law possible?.....311

Mônia Clarissa Hennig Leal

How far should international courts of human rights go?
An analysis of the international courts and constitutional jurisdiction regarding the phenomena of judicialization and judicial activism.....331

Editors and contributors to this volume.....353