

Contents

Introduction: Italy between transition and reform resistance Robert Kaiser / Jana Edelmann	9
--	---

National identity and political culture

The problem of the nation-state in Italy: some long-term historical reflections Christopher Duggan	21
--	----

From important parties to pivotal parties. The role of regional parties in Italy's Second Republic Marco Brunazzo / Günther Pallaver	35
--	----

A Crisis of Italian Identity? The Northern League and Italy's Renationalization Since the 1990s Silvana Patriarca	61
---	----

Political system and institutions

A 'Perfect Storm': Institutional Reform in Italy after the 2013 National Elections Martin J. Bull	81
---	----

The Second Republic That Never Was Gianfranco Pasquino	99
--	----

The Italian Party System after the Crisis: Transformations and Uncertainties Maurizio Cotta	113
---	-----

Contents

The Republic of vetoes: Legislative change and stability in the Italian political system Francesco Zucchini	133
 Political actors and elite structures
Dust of Italian stars Carlo Carboni	157
Party professionalism and individualism in the "new" Italian ruling class Luca Verzichelli	183
Between systemic corruption and anticorruption: political scandals and electoral accountability in Italy Alberto Vannucci	203
 Personalized politics and political leadership
The MoVimento 5 Stelle (M5S), the PD and the current (and changing) state of the party system James L. Newell	239
Berlusconia has never existed. On the powerlessness of Silvio Berlusconi as Italy's Prime Minister Jana Edelman	271