

Contents	5
Charts	9
Cases, Annexes	10
Preface to the English edition	11
Preface	12
Introduction	13
Before Chapter I – a case study	19
Chapter I. Basic components	25
1. What is a negotiation?	25
1.1 Conversation (small talk)	25
1.2 Speech/lecture, persuasion, interview	27
1.3 Debate	27
1.4 Negotiation	28
2. Who negotiates, and when?	30
3. What is the aim of negotiating?	31
3.1 One-sided attribution (“Bone of contention”)	31
3.2 Enlarging the object	33
3.3 Distribution	35
3.4 Exchange	35
3.5 Zero sum, compromise haggling	36
3.6 Conflict	47
4. What is the prerequisite of negotiating?	40
5. What homework has to be done?	45
6. Who is a negotiator’s partner?	45
7. Who is a negotiator’s opponent?	46
8. What are the basic structure and the most important instrument?	47
9. Are there female and male negotiations?	47
Chapter II. Negotiating structures	51
1. When do negotiations begin?	51
2. Who opens?	51
3. How are negotiations structured?	52
3.1. Single-level negotiations	52
3.2. Multistage negotiations	53
3.3. Confrontation or cooperation as an alternative	55
4. When analyze a problem to its constituent parts – and when to make package deals?	56

5. What are the dynamics of negotiating?	57
6. What does a good result look like?	57
Chapter III. Elementary strategies of bilateral negotiating	59
1. Starting point	59
1.1 Basic situations	59
1.2 More complex cases	59
1.3 Divisibility of the matter	60
2. Indivisible objects	68
3. Maximum - Minimum - Optimum	70
3.1 Maximal position	70
3.2 Position of the opponent, "Fair Negotiations"?	71
3.3 Minimal position – BATNA	71
3.4 Optimum	75
3.5 Further alternatives	77
4. Broader scenarios: more subjects, more delegations	78
4.1 Package deals	78
4.2 Weighing items and partners	81
Chapter IV. Multilateral negotiations - a task for the advanced	83
1. Introduction	83
2. Basic categories	84
3. Consensus forums	86
4. Majority forums	91
4.1 Basics	91
4.2 Democratic majority change, mixed forums	92
4.3 Structure of the majority system	95
4.4 Majority system: drafting a resolution	100
4.5 Worldwide examples	103
4.5.1 United Nations	104
4.5.2 European Community / Union	117
4.5.3 Other forums	118
5. Mixed systems	119
5.1 Qualified majority	119
5.2. Consensus as a "common denominator"	119
5.3 "Allowing oneself being outvoted"	120
6. Vertical structures of multilateral forums	122
7. Confrontational variants: Condemnation, Sanctions	131

Chapter V. Mediation and Crisis prevention	135
1. The Mediator	135
2. Conference Officials	136
3. Appointed Mediators	137
4. Neutrals and Non-Aligned	137
5. Second Track Diplomacy	138
6. New Methods of Conflict Resolution – the Parallel model	138
7. Crisis prevention	141
Chapter VI. Positions, Structural Imbalances	145
1. Why take Positions?	145
2. Overcoming fixed Positions	149
3. “Confident” versus “Non-confident” Negotiator	150
4. Ways out of the sense of inferiority	154
5. Requirement of Legality, Ban on violence	155
Chapter VII. Intercultural Components	157
1. Cultural differences - Global perspective	157
1.1 Monochronic vs. Polychronic Societies	157
1.2 Protocol	159
1.3 Individualism vs. Collectivism	160
1.4 Mobility	161
2. Cultural differences - European (EU) perspective	163
2.1 Anglo-Saxons	163
2.2 Gallic (Romance)	165
2.3 Teutons	165
2.4 Eastern Central Europeans	167
2.5 Eastern Mediterranean Group	167
3. Substance, atmosphere, long-term relationship	167
Chapter VIII. The five modes of Negotiating	175
1. First mode: Push (offensive/open)	176
2. Second mode: Pull (offensive/concealed)	178
3. Borderline cases between Push and Pull	182
4. Third mode: Reject (defensive/open)	184
5. Fourth mode: Avoid (defensive/concealed)	185
6. The interactive modes – Summary	192
7. Fifth mode: Stand still – Not move	192
Excursion: Procedural Questions as Substance	202
Chapter IX. Arguing styles	205
1. The importance of arguments	205

2. Arguing from Superiority	205
2.1 Momentary Superiority – Leading the other side	205
2.2 Structural Superiority - Pushing the other side	208
3. Arguing styles as Weapons	209
3.1 Inductive – from Assertions to Connections	209
3.2 Deductive – from Premises to Conclusions	211
3.3 Normative – from Legal Positions to Demands	213
3.4 “A Farewell to Arms”	214
4. Solution-oriented Arguments	215
4.1 Factual – from Facts to Common Ground	215
4.2 Constructive and Creative – from Proposals and Preliminary Ideas to Solutions	216
Chapter X. Negotiator Typology, Line-up of Delegations	219
1. Introduction – Type Patterns	219
2. The types	219
2.1 The Director type	219
2.2 The Expressive type	220
2.3 The Relater type	220
2.4 The Thinker type	221
3. Compatibilities	221
3.1 The same types	221
3.2 Opposites attract?	222
3.3 Neighbouring types	222
3.4 Combinations of three types	223
4. Mixed types	223
5. What happens during Negotiations?	224
6. Lopsided teams	225
Annex 1 – 4	229
Epilogue by Elmar Bartsch	283
Literature	285
Index	289

Zu diesem Jahrbuch	9
--------------------------	---

I. Klimamanipulation – Ersatzhandlung

Patrick Eickemeier & Hans Joachim Schellnhuber Kippelemente – Achillesfersen im Klimasystem	11
Konrad Ott Kartierung der Argumente zum Geoengineering	20
Paul J. Crutzen Erdabkühlung durch Sulfatinjektionen in die Stratosphäre	33
Wera Leujak, Harald Ginzky, Jens Arle & Ulrich Claussen Erdabkühlung durch Eisendüngung der Ozeane	40
Steve Rayner Geoengineering Governance – Regulierung der Klimamanipulation	51
Michael Hauhs & Holger Lange Modelle von Geoengineering – theoretische Grundlagen	65

II. Klimapolitik – Chefsache ohne Schub

Vorrede zur Integrität der Wissenschaft	81
Klimawandel und die Integrität der Wissenschaft – offener Brief	82
Inge Paulini Mit Klimagerechtigkeit aus der Verhandlungskrise	85
Sascha Müller-Kraenner Europas Klimadiplomatie vor dem Neuanfang	94

Stormy-Annika Mildner & Jörn Richert „Going Green Slowly“ – die US-Klimapolitik	101
Susanne Dröge BASIC – die neuen Giganten beim Klimapoker	112
Udo Kuckartz Klimabewusstsein in Europa: Liegt Deutschland vorn?	128
Martin Jänicke Das Innovationstempo in der Klimapolitik forcieren!	138
Sylvia Kotting-Uhl Klimawandel löst Länderkonflikt – Insel im Meer verschwunden	148
Sylvia Kotting-Uhl Klimaschutz: Abschied nehmen von der Kernfusion	149

III. Perspektiven & Innovationen

Peter-Christoph Storm Umweltrecht im Klimawandel	156
Bettina Brohmann Basisinnovationen anderer Art: Energiewende, Auktionskultur	167
Hanne Tügel Ökogemeinde Totnes in England.....	173
Hanne Tügel Das Garagendach als Tankstelle für Elektroautos	180
Gerhard Trommer Kinder in der Natur – Natur in Kindern	182
René Zimmer & Iken Draeger Jugend und Klima: Was erwarten Jugendliche von der Zukunft?	193
Christiane Ax Arbeit für ein Konzept vom „guten Leben“	201

Michael Müller & Peter Stutz
Auf einer langen Welle zur Ökologie – Kondratieff weist den Weg .208

Edgar Göll
Nachhaltige Entwicklung in der Wüste –Beispiel SEKEM214

Stefan Kreuzberger
„Grüntünchen“ – wie Firmen für ihr Image manipulieren220

IV. Vor-Denker & Vor-Reiter

Heike Leitschuh
Angelika Zahrt – die analytische Aktivistin226

Gertrud Lenz
Beate Weber – die umweltpolitische Kämpferin229

Günter Altner
Joseph Beuys – der Künstler und Schamane232

V. Umweltinstitutionen

Forum für Verantwortung235

Initiative „Stiften für die Umwelt“236

VI. Ökologische Trends

Christopher Flavin
Globale ökologische Trends – Perspektive 2011237

Autorinnen und Autoren246